II. SPECIFIC COURSE/INSTRUCTOR REQUIREMENTS:

A. There is no textbook for this course. Learning materials will be in the form of handouts or printouts. The instructor reserves the right to require additional materials.

B. Attendance Policy

Students are expected to attend all classes to be successful in a course. The student may be administratively withdrawn from the course when absences become excessive as defined in the course syllabus.

When an unavoidable reason for class absence arises, such as illness, an official trip authorized by the college or an official activity, the instructor may permit the student to make up work missed. It is the student's responsibility to complete work missed within a reasonable period as determined by the instructor. Students are officially enrolled in all courses for which they pay tuition and fees at the time of registration. Should a student, for any reason, delay in reporting to a class after official enrollment, absences will be attributed to the student from the first-class meeting.

Students who enroll in a course but have never attended by the official census date, as reported by the faculty member, will be administratively dropped by the Office of Admissions and Records. A student who does not meet the attendance requirements of a class as stated in the course syllabus and does not officially withdraw from that course by the official census date of the semester may be administratively withdrawn from that course and receive a grade of "X" or "F" as determined by the instructor. Instructors are responsible for clearly stating their administrative drop policy in the course syllabus, and it is the student's responsibility to be aware of that policy.

It is the student's responsibility to verify administrative drops for excessive absences through Texan Connect. If it is determined that a student is awarded financial aid for a class or classes in which the student never attended or participated, the financial aid award will be adjusted in accordance with the classes in which the student did attend/participate, and the student will owe any balance resulting from the adjustment.

Graphic Arts Attendance Policy

The South Plains College attendance policy is stated in the General Catalog (see above). Punctual and regular attendance in class is required of all Graphic Arts students. Each student is responsible for all class work covered while he or she was not in class. At the discretion of the instructor, a student may complete makeup work assignments for unavoidable absences. The instructor uses their discretion to administer an "X" or "F" grade when a student has excessive absences. In the event a student is not able to complete course work, he or she is expected to take initiative to initiate a student withdrawal notice that results in a "W" grade when completed before the last college "Drop date." All students must complete or remain in compliance with TASP requirements.

The Graphic Arts program has modified the absentee policy as follows: After a student has missed three regular days of class, his or her final grade will be dropped one letter grade for each additional absence. A student who has missed four class days may be dropped at the instructor's discretion. Tardiness for two class days equals one absence and will be used to consider this policy.

Any make up work is at the instructor's discretion to allow a student to do additional work.

The lab is an intricate part of a class. If a student attends the class but misses the lab, the student will be marked absent for the whole class period.

The chairperson of the Creative Arts, Administration, or Counseling Department must approve, in writing, any deviation from the attendance policy.

Students may be required to attend events on and off campus for additional grades at various times. Failure to attend will result in either a low grade or an absence at the instructor's discretion. Students must be notified at least two weeks in advance of the event.

Absence for Military Service

In accordance with Texas Education Code Section 51.9111, a student is excused from attending classes or engaging in other required activities, including exams, if he or she is called to active military service of a reasonably brief duration. The maximum time for which the student may be excused has been defined by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board as "no more than 25 percent of the total number of class meetings or the contact hour equivalent (not including the final examination period) for the specific course or courses in which the student is currently enrolled at the beginning of the period of active military service." The student will be allowed a reasonable time after the absence to complete assignments and take exams.

Religious Holy Days

In accordance with Texas Education Code Section 51.911, South Plains College will allow a student who is absent from class for the observance of a religious holy day to take an examination or complete an assignment scheduled for that day within seven (7) calendar days after the absence. Students are required to file a written notification of absence with each instructor within the first fifteen (15) days of the semester in which the absence will occur. Forms for this purpose are available in the Dean of Students Office along with instructions and procedures. "Religious holy days" means a holy day observed by a religion whose place of worship is exempt from property taxation under Texas Tax Code Section 11.20.

Pregnancy

In accordance with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, in the event of pregnancy, termination of pregnancy or recovery from any of these conditions a student's absences shall be excused, as deemed necessary by the student's physician (Title IX.) The student should contact the Director of Health and Wellness at (806) 716-2563 for further assistance.

C. Assignment Policy

All required work must be turned in on time in order that the student may benefit from the corrections and study for future development. Assigned work is DUE ON THE CLASS PERIOD ASSIGNED. Late work is not accepted. Work not turned in by the posted due date results in a zero for that grade and project. Under extreme circumstances, the instructor has sole discretion whether to accept late work due to circumstances beyond the student's control.

D. Grading Policy/Procedure and/or methods of evaluation: A student's final grade is determined by averaging all examinations, projects and participation grades. All graded projects and exercises will be graded one week after the due date.

E. Grading Defined:

90-100 A • Art Director

Art director takes an assignment and makes it their own. By incorporating the requirements and exceeding all limitation including psychological. An art director will take a project to the next step establishing characteristics of thought, emotion, development, and design working through any technical limitations or requirements. The art director achieves a more dimensional design with a broader meaning and message.

This additional level is obtained without any change in time restraints and technical requirements. It tells a story, makes you think or creates an emotional reaction. The piece usually has a sense of what is defined as overtone. This level of work reaches a professional level that makes the piece unique within itself and stands out as an individual thought or the results of a unique design process.

80-89 B • Graphic Artist

A graphic artist works within the limitations of the assignment. He stays within the requirements but develops those limitations to their fullest. They use creative techniques to create physical and visual responses to the assignment which will improve the overall appearance or show a better understanding of the requirements. But fail to take the piece beyond the creative and technical limitations to the psychological level. This level reaches a professional level that visually makes the piece unique and all technical aspects are used and recognized and done within the deadline.

70-79 C • Production Artist

A production artist takes the assignment and recreates it as demonstrated or required exactly as proposed. Technical design elements such as proximity, line, etc may be followed, but the production artist is limited to and by the technical requirements of the piece. No creative processes are used and no decisions or risk are taken. This level reaches a professional level that visually and technically equal the requirements of the assignment.

60-69 D • Amateur

An amateur is an artist who falls short of the basic requirements of a piece. Unlike a production artist who only completes the requirements and does it well the amateur completes the project but fails to reach the required level of technical expertise. These are aspects that may require more practice, or lab time but are believed to be reachable within the artist's skills. This level does not equal visually or technically the requirements of the assignments but appears to be a completed effort.

0-59 F • Failure

Failure is usually the results of poor time management or technical confusion (a lack of understanding how to do something) An incomplete project that does not reach the basic requirements of the assignment is considered incomplete and therefore, a failure.

F. Distractions

Distraction is a behavior that prevents a student or students from giving their full attention to a task. Examples of past distractions are excessive talking or visiting; hygiene; inappropriate dress; lack of attentiveness; habitual tardiness, aggressive or combative attitudes, failure to have assignments and supplies when needed, use of technology that intrudes on another's space or inhibits a student from participating in the activities of the class, etc.

It is the purpose of this program for all students to work in a quiet, professional environment. Students are expected to act as they would in a professional environment. Any failure to do so may result in disciplinary action or dismissal from class. Students must show restraint from using the classroom and lab as anything other than a time to learn, work and explore.

G. Disciplinary Students should report when they are prevented from giving their complete attention. Should the instructor identify the activity as a distraction, the student will be asked to stop by being given a written notice that informs the student of the behavior. If the problem persists, the student will be asked to address the problem with the Program Coordinator, with the instructor present. The Program Coordinator will decide if the behavior warrants a meeting with the Dean of Students. The Dean of Students will determine if the student will be allowed to return to class.
